
Threadfall Calendar for 2855/2000

Kadanzer Weyr covers a territory that is almost the size of the entire Northern Continent. Usually only one Flight flies each Threadfall, although in the event of bad weather or other problems, the Weyrleader might decide to send two Flights up in shifts. It works out that Thread falls approximately once every three days somewhere in Kadanzer territory. It falls at various times of the day or night, including sometimes just after midnight or just before dawn. Thread also, of course, has no respect for such man-made conventions as restdays. Another natural event that has no respect for convenience is Hatchings, and these also sometimes occur on Threadfall days, which makes for hectic activity at the Weyr!

The chart below indicates where and when Thread is falling through 2855 (Real Time 2000). It also indicates which Flight is scheduled to meet 'Fall. Gold mating flights, clutch dates and Hatching days are also indicated on this calendar. Please use this chart to schedule Threadfall events in stories for the Weyr.

If you are interested in a more technical explanation of this calendar, see Technical Explanation of Threadfall Calendar.
